ASU CLOSING CHINA-FUNDED INSTITUTE AFTER DEFENSE DEPARTMENT GIVES ULTIMATUM

Original Story By Kyra Haas, Arizona Republic

ASU's Confucius Institute, founded in 2007 and funded by the Chinese government, has closed. ASU joins at least 15 other universities in closing its Confucius Institute in the past 18 months. The programs have come under scrutiny, with lawmakers and others voicing concerns about possible Chinese propaganda or espionage.

The Confucius Institute at ASU offered Chinese language and culture education, hosted academic conferences and partnered with a number of K-12 schools in Arizona to provide Chinese language programs.

The National Defense Authorization Act for the 2019 fiscal year prohibits universities from hosting an institute while also receiving funding for Chinese language study from the U.S. Department of Defense. ASU is slated to receive $750,000 per year over the next five years from the Pentagon for the Language Flagship Program.

ASU attempted to apply for a waiver but was denied.

TAYLORFEST, PASSPORT, WESTFEST

Welcome back Sun Devils! The CRU executive board has been very busy during ASU welcome week tabling at many events across different ASU campuses. These events were a huge success and we hope to see the people we met while tabling at one of our future meetings.

DANIEL MCCARTHY

By Randy Miller

CRU Faculty Adviser Charles Loftus and I met with Daniel McCarthy this morning and talked for a little over an hour. Daniel is sincere, smart, articulate and tenacious, just what we need representing us. Most importantly, he demonstrates a better than working knowledge of our constitution and leaves no doubt he'll work to uphold his oath of office. Additionally, I believe Daniel can win in the general election against Mark Kelly. I personally am getting behind Daniel and will support his efforts in the primary. It's time we have serious representation in such a volatile and divided country. We need a fighter, not a traitor on constitutional issues that jeopardize our liberties and way of life.
