JERRY SHERIDAN

FOR MARICOPA COUNTY SHERIFF

Original Story By Rick Thomas

Retired Chief Deputy of the Maricopa County Sheriff's Office with 38 years of service Jerry Sheridan, Jerry Sheridan visited CRU September 25th to educate members on the duties of a County Sheriff.

He began his career with MCSO as a volunteer at the age of 18 going on to be hired as a detention officer and then a deputy sheriff. He worked his way up through the ranks from deputy sheriff to deputy chief, overseeing Patrol and Jail Operations, and ultimately achieving the highest uniform position within the Sheriff's Office-Chief Deputy. All while raising a family with his wife and best friend of thirty years Stacie and two daughters, obtaining a Masters Degree in Organizational Management, earning a Certified Jail Manager certification and graduating from the FBI National Academy in Quantico Virginia. He was also appointed to the Arizona Peace Officers Standards and Training Board by three governors spanning twelve years recognizing him for his personal ethics and values.

Not only did Sheridan speak at CRU, in the following week he tabled with us to promote his campaign and help recruit new members for our organization. We were met with great conservative students and even had a discussion with several anarchists about law enforcement.

ANTIFA AT CRU

Original Story By ADI Staff Reporter

On September 11th, ANTIFA came to ASU. Gabriel Nadales, a former member of ANTIFA, brought the group to life in his presentation to ASU's College Republicans United in the basement of a Tempe Campus building. Nadales discussed his involvement with the group and how its members use violence to suppress free speech at all costs. Nadales explained that he joined ANTIFA, and the Young Democratic Socialists of America as a teenager. Nadales said he started doubting ANTIFA and Socialism when he developed the desire to earn better grades in his Economic class. To serve that purpose, Nadales said he did something none of his fellow other Socialists did; open and read the Economics textbook.

It was long before Nadales began to realize that the information about various economic systems was far different than what he and his fellow socialists understood. They were operating under and touting a very different set of "facts." After his firm understanding of economic systems was shattered, he looked deeper for the truth and was eventually "outed for being a doubter" and forced to turn in his "black mask." Over time, Nadales adopted more of a Libertarian philosophy and is now in post-graduate school on the East Coast and works for the Leadership Institute.

It was Nadales description of the methods and goals of ANTIFA, that brought the group to life. His explanation that the group's members do not accept any form of compromise, that gave students a glimpse into the zealotry behind the movement and the narrow course it follows.

AZRA LUNCHEON

By Julie Houtman

On September 21st I had the amazing opportunity to go to the first annual AZRA luncheon in Phoenix. I had first met the members of AZRA over the summer when I attended their meeting and told them about what CRU is and what we do on campus and in our communities. They were kind enough to allow me to go to this luncheon with them and listen to speakers such as Representative Walt Blackman and Congressman Andy Biggs.

MONOPOLY SOCIALISM

By Julie Houtman

On the 18th of September CRU was supposed to host Mike Cernovich to talk about his new documentary, "Hoaxed." Because of some scheduling issues, we were not able to host him. Instead we were able to do something better, by playing Monopoly Socialism!! In Monopoly Socialism everyone shares their money, and no one can own property. Just like socialism in real life, everyone lost the game. We all had a great time playing it! Thank you to Merissa Hamilton for providing us with the game!
